

About Us

The attorneys and staff of Ward, Miller & Geyer are dedicated legal professionals with extensive experience and a proven track record representing clients in simple and complex real estate transactions. We provide our clients quality, cost conscience legal representation on a nationwide basis.

Focus. We focus our practice on real estate transactions. We don't take on work outside our area of expertise. If we can't provide you expert work, we won't take the work.

Experience. Our expertise was developed through years of law firm practice. But not only there. Our attorneys also have experience as entrepreneurs, real estate developers, company real estate directors and in-house counsel. This wide variety of experience gives us an unrivaled understanding of what our clients want and need. We understand our clients' businesses, not simply their immediate legal needs.

Nationwide Representation. Our attorneys are licensed in California and Utah. We currently represent our clients in transactions across the country, and have a great depth of experience in California, Utah and the Intermountain West, Chicago and the Upper Midwest, and the Philadelphia/Delaware Valley regions.

Service. Our size demands a level of client interaction, responsiveness and service not possible in many larger firms. When you engage us, you are directly represented by our most experienced attorneys. Our cost conscience billing structure allows us to put our most experienced attorneys to work on most projects.

Value. In the global marketplace, service is not all you should demand. We understand our clients' legitimate concern with transaction costs, particularly in businesses with margins often razor thin. We use technological innovations in the practice of law, along with our multi-jurisdictional expertise, to bring a regional cost structure to a national practice. Call it outsourcing to Utah; the result is substantial rate savings for our clients.

Bottom Line. Our transactional focus, nationwide expertise and personal understanding of our clients' businesses allow us to provide each client with quality legal representation at affordable rates.